

Editor-in-Chief

The Editor-in-Chief of the Collection of Papers New Economy, Prof. Dr. Adis Puška, has been listed for the second consecutive year on the prestigious Stanford Top 2% Scientists list.

This list is published by Stanford University, in collaboration with Elsevier and the Scopus database. It recognizes leading global scientists who have made a significant impact in their fields, measurable through the citation of their work.

For researchers, academic institutions, and all science enthusiasts, this recognition serves as an important indicator for identifying excellence and tracking significant scientific contributions.
